

Developmental Entrepreneurship: Adversity, Risk, and Isolation

Editors: Craig S. Galbraith, Ph.D. and Curt H. Stiles, Ph.D. (2006)

Publisher: Elsevier; www.elsevier.com

Developmental Entrepreneurship: Adversity, Risk and Isolation, the 5th volume in the Elsevier series, International Research in the Business Disciplines focuses on issues related to entrepreneurship and small business development within a global environment, especially under conditions of adversity, high environmental uncertainty, or weak institutional frameworks. The volume examines a broad set of issues, including entrepreneurial strategies and economic development in post-war and post-natural disaster environments, entrepreneurship and education within ethnic and indigenous groups, the role of entrepreneurship as economic development mechanisms within less developed and transitional economies, entrepreneurial activities within isolated environments, and the role of international institutions and law in small enterprise development.

This volume provides a timely survey of the most critical aspects of developmental entrepreneurship currently being discussed in the fields of entrepreneurship, sociology, and economics. Written by the top luminaries in the field, such as Peruvian economist Hernando de Soto and J. Michael Finger of the World Bank, the twenty seminal articles presented here represent a combination of empirical research, theoretical insight and practical suggestions.

Table of Contents (Selected)

1. Trust, Institutions and Entrepreneurship by Hernando de Soto (President, ILD)
2. Poor Peoples' Knowledge by J. Michael Finger (World Bank)
3. Institutional Development and Entrepreneurship in a Transition Context by Friederike Welter (Rhine-Westphalia Institute for Economic Research, Germany) and David Smallbone (Middlesex University, London)
4. Poverty, Developing Entrepreneurship and Aid Economics in Mozambique: A Review of Empirical Research by Leo Paul Dana (Univ. of Canterbury) and Craig S. Galbraith (UNCW)
5. New Venture Performance in the Transition Economies: A Conceptual Model by Erich J. Schwarz (Universitat Klagenfurt, Austria) and Malgorzata A. Wdowiak (Universitat Klagenfurt, Austria)
6. Disasters and Entrepreneurship: A Short Review by Craig S. Galbraith and Curt H Stiles (UNCW)
7. HIV/AIDS, Crime and Small Business in South Africa by Eslyn B. H. Isaacs (Univ. Western Cape, South Africa) and Christian Friedrich (Univ. Western Cape, South Africa)
8. Isolation as a Source of Entrepreneurial Opportunities: Overcoming the Limitations of Isolated Micro-States by Orn D. Jonsson (Univ. of Iceland) and Rognvaldur J. Saemundsson (Reykjavik Univ., Iceland)
9. Portrait of an Entrepreneurial Trade Mission: Iceland Goes to China by Porlaktur Karlsson, Reykjavik University (Iceland), Michael Luthy (Bellarmine Univ., USA), and Katrin Olafsdorrir (Reykjavik Univ., Iceland)
10. Indigenous Entrepreneurship Research: Themes and Variations by Anna Marie Perado (Univ. of Victoria) and Robert Anderson (Univ. of Regina)
11. Gender Differences in Minority Small Business Hiring Practices by Pat Roberson-Saunders and Raymond D. Smith (Howard Univ.)
12. Immigrants and Entrepreneurs in São Paulo, Brazil: Economic Development in the Brazilian 'Melting Pot' by José Renato de Campos Araújo (Universidade de São Paulo-USP Leste; Escola de Artes, Ciências e Humanidades), Odair da Cruz Paiva (Universidade Estadual Paulista Júlio de Mesquita Filho; Faculdade de Filosofia e Ciências de Marília), and Carlos L. Rodriguez (UNCW)
13. The Challenges of Entrepreneurship Education at University: Evidence from a Longitudinal Survey by Christian Friedrich (Univ. of Giessen, Germany) and K. Visser (Univ. Western Cape, South Africa)
14. Educational Curricula and Self-Efficacy: Entrepreneurial Orientation and New Venture Intentions among University Students in Mexico by Ricardo D. Alvarez (CETYS Universidad, Mexico) and Alex F. DeNoble (San Diego State University)
15. Instructional Strategies for Education Reform and a Model for Engaging Minority Youth by Howard S. Rasheed (UNCW) and Michael Howard-Vital (UNC)
16. Disasters, Vulnerability and the Global Economy by Charlotte Benson (Malaysia) and Edward Clay (ODI)

Library Ordering Information

ISBN 978-0-7623-1358-7

Publisher: Elsevier, Ltd; <http://www.elsevier.com/>